

Support employees from abroad

- Secure your international recruitment efforts
- Enable employees to perform better in their new job
- Help employees and families with personal affairs
- Offer practical support on location / outside office hours

Amstel Expats understands the challenges faced by international employees, their partners and families, when they arrive in the Amsterdam region. With our local knowledge and expertise, we help them handle Dutch formalities and common practices.

Our support packages aim to take care of uncertainties and stress during the transition period. We motivate international employees to keep their spirits up and participate actively in their new environment, as both factors are essential for the successful completion of an international assignment.

Living abroad can be an exciting adventure but at the same time challenging, as employees will have to understand cultural differences and build new relationships. Amstel Expats advice is to prepare well beforehand and understand the steps to be taken along the way. Our face-to-face meetings will help employees deal with their queries and concerns much more effectively than any other source of information.

Our support already starts before international employees move over. We help them on their way by discussing their personal situation using SKYPE-calls. Based on this intake assessment a personal information pack is put together incl.:

1. Relocation plan/personal checklist
2. How to prepare for official procedures (immigration, municipality registration, BSN)
3. Preparation support guide & local information materials
4. Contact details of recommended local service providers

We understand how important it is to find a new home, therefore we also conduct a detailed housing assessment and work together with reliable housing agents. Personal e-mail & phone support is provided to help with specific questions arising during the relocation and settling-in process.

Our support packages include several personal meetings, so we can provide employees with the right information at the right time. By taking into account specific circumstances, we help them to better understand the information available and to deal effectively with the challenges and concerns, they might have.

Bringing over a family? The critical success factor is a well-settled partner & children

Moving with a partner and/or family is likely to bring some extra challenges, as employees will be concerned about the settling-in of their family members as well. Fortunately, the Netherlands host good schools, lots of sports facilities and it is easy to get around, especially if you dare to cycle!

Amstel Expats provides a listening ear and local support to all family members involved, so that every expat, accompanying partner and child keeps his/her spirits up and enjoys life in the Netherlands. When moving internationally, it is important to have a local sparring partner, someone who knows how things work in the Netherlands. Our approach is not to take over someone's life, but we explain what to expect, give local advice and hands-on assistance.

Additional services on an as-need basis

- Client specific research (per ½ hour)
- Accompany client, incl. travel time (per hour)
- Extra settling-in and/or advice sessions (per hour)

Employee support packages are available from € 750,00, excluding 21% BTW (Dutch sales tax).

Our support packages aim to take care of uncertainties and stress during the transition period, so that international employees (and families) are motivated to keep their spirits up and participate actively in their new environment.

Our goal is to:

1. Enable employees to quickly focus on their new job or position.
2. Help accompanying family members to settle smoothly in their new environment and enjoy life in the Netherlands.

Amstel Expats provides practical support to complement international HR-activities. Our support is also available outside office hours.

We strive to assist and inform HR-professionals effectively and look forward to discussing your company's needs and help you further. For more information, please contact us directly:
